

CIRCULAR ECONOMY LED RECOVERY PLAN

What

Build a Smart Map
Collaborate with Purpose
Recover and Grow

Who

Local Government, Agricultural Coordination Group, TWiA, and Circular Economy Network Tasmania collaborate to identify regional stakeholders, connect project phases.

How

Build a Smart Map and Collaborate with Purpose (local government, industry stakeholders, business enterprise centers, community networks, researchers). Funding provided to support facilitation and cover expenses.

Recover and Grow initiatives supported by need of initiative (self funded, corporate contribution, 'in kind', regional development funds, or grant funding).

How to identify local circular economy potential and existing value chains

How to identify cross regional circular economy synergies

How to resource projects using regional synergies

How to assess the circularity of projects

How to get there

SMART MAP

A smart map considers material flows, information flows, value chains, working and empty spaces, technology, how we rent, share, and exchange. It helps us explore, understand, and find meaning. It helps us to take the guess work out local and regional variables and make decisions with confidence.

COLLABORATIVE ACTION AGENDA

Identifies how we will grow and how we will all benefit - identifying the spaces where we can collaborate and compete with trust, and how we will support and resource activities with a strong Purpose and the circular economy in mind.

PURPOSE

Based on an innovation concept born out of the UK, the focus of Purpose is to tackle difficult societal problems using a consistent and methodical approach.

Purpose unites, mobilises and organises the best talent, knowledge and capital that are needed to break through at scale.

Purpose looks to tackle unmet needs and unexploited opportunities to disrupt, extend, and improve existing services by mapping insights and new technologies or ways of working.

It looks to develop a unique ecosystem of diverse talent across many sectors, mobilising them around a common goal and building commercial and investible solutions to social problems.

Circular Economy Network Tasmania is a group of like minded individuals focused on improving Tasmania through the circular economy.
